

Sprat CD v3 & 4 with 64 bit Windows

Tony Fishpool – G4WIF

Things have rather moved on since we developed the version 3 and 4 Sprat CD's and if you try to autorun them within 64 bit Windows you will get this message...

It's not so much a fault as a consequence of the tightening of security in later versions of Windows.

This doesn't mean that your CD is defective, nor does it mean that you can't use it.

On the CD you will find a file called "index.htm" and if you run this file, your browser will load and you will see the menu that we created to make simple selecting the Sprat issue of interest.

You don't have to use this menu, if you wish you can simply browse to the "Sprats" folder and load whichever issue you like into your favourite PDF viewer.

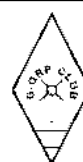

Given the generous size of hard drives nowadays, it makes life easier if you create a folder on your hard drive and copy the entire contents of the CD into it. Then create a menu item that runs "index.htm".
